

HERBALIFE.

ANNOUNCEMENT

World's Most Famous Soccer Player, David Beckham, to Play for Herbalife-Sponsored LA Galaxy Team

Soccer champion David Beckham, one of the most recognizable athletes in the world, has signed a five-year deal to play for the Herbalife-sponsored Los Angeles Galaxy of Major League Soccer (MLS). The 31-year-old midfielder will join the LA Galaxy after his contract with Real Madrid expires on June 30, 2007. Herbalife has been the official nutrition sponsor of the LA Galaxy since 2005.

The deal to bring Beckham to America is considered to be among the biggest in sporting history and a sure way to elevate the sport of soccer in the U.S and America's reputation internationally. Former captain of England's national team, Beckham has been a star on two of the world's best and most popular soccer clubs, Manchester United of England and Real Madrid of Spain.

About the Los Angeles Galaxy

One of Major League Soccer's original teams, the Los Angeles Galaxy has won five championships including the MLS Cup (2002, 2005), U.S. Open Cup (2001, 2005) and CONCACAF Champions' Cup (2000). The Galaxy, which has led MLS in attendance the past two years, play all of the team's home games at The Home Depot Center on the campus of California State University at Dominguez Hills in Carson, CA.

What this means to you as an Herbalife Distributor:

- Herbalife signage at every home game
- Team travels to cities near you (Games scheduled for U.S., Mexico and Asia)
- Beckham will generate tremendous national exposure of the LA Galaxy. Such increased exposure will likely enhance the visibility of Herbalife throughout the U.S. as a sponsor of the Galaxy
- Global media attention will increase the visibility of Herbalife around the world

To see the AEG news conference Michael O. Johnson attended on January 12, 2007, after the Beckham announcement, go to www.lagalaxy.com.

Who do you know that likes soccer? Tell them to tune in, watch and support the Herbalife-sponsored LA Galaxy team.

HERBALIFE.